WRITE WINNING NIH GRANT PROPOSALS

NIH
Thursday, December 12, 2019
8:30am - 4:30pm
Dartmouth Class of 1978
Life Sciences Center
Oopik Auditorium
Room 100

Breakfast, lunch, and coffee breaks will be provided.

This comprehensive, all-day presentation addresses both practical and conceptual aspects of writing NIH research grant and fellowship applications. It is appropriate for faculty members, postdoctoral researchers, and graduate students. Dr. Robertson will spend time focusing on writing a Specific Aims page, along with the research strategy. An emphasis is given to doing the “extra” things that can make the difference between success and failure.

All participants will receive an extensive handout, as well as a copy of “The Grant Application Writer’s Workbook” for the NIH.

To register, please visit https://forms.gle/vqdc68GfBM4m3S3C9
Questions? Please email GrantGPS@dartmouth.edu