FEATURES

Announcing the 2016 SYNERGY Scholars Awards

Three outstanding early-career investigators (Joshua P. Aronson, MD, Assistant Professor of Surgery; Wilder Doucette, MD, PhD, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry; and Rodwell Mabaera, MD, PhD, Assistant Professor of Medicine) have been awarded 2016 SYNERGY Scholars Awards. Read more: synergy.dartmouth.edu/synergy-scholars

SYNERGY 2017 Community Engagement Pilot Grant Program RFA

Grant funding is available for 2017 SYNERGY Community Engagement Pilot awards. The SYNERGY Community Engagement Pilot Program seeks to fund innovative, interdisciplinary community engagement research proposals that emphasize the community’s role in developing and translating knowledge into improvements in clinical practice, community programs, and health policy. Read more: synergy.dartmouth.edu/community-engagement-pilot-grant

CLAIMS DATA RESEARCH WEBINAR ANNOUNCEMENT: Atlas Rate Generator

Presentation and Demonstration by: David Goodman MD, MS
Wednesday, August 24, 2016, 12:00 – 1:00 PM
AdobeConnect Meeting: tdi-dartmouth.adobeconnect.com/ARG
Info on the Atlas Rate Generator/SYNERGY Center for Translational Population Research (CPTR): synergy.dartmouth.edu/ctpr

NIH One-Page Guide to Rigor and Reproducibility: This guide explains how to address rigor and reproducibility in an NIH application, covering 4 key areas of scientific rigor and where to address each in an application. Read more: https://nexus.od.nih.gov/all/2016/07/31/your-one-page-guide-to-rigor-and-reproducibility/

2016 SYNERGY Community Engagement Research Awardee Named Promising Early-Career Investigator

Paul Barr, MSc, PhD, a 2016 SYNERGY Community Engagement Research awardee, recently received the Patient and Family Engagement Early-Career Investigator Award from the Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation. Read more: tdi.dartmouth.edu/press/updates/research-spotlight-paul-barr-and-his-early-career-investigator-award